

New Normal in Australia's Foodservice Market Includes Plant-based Meats

Delivery remained a popular ordering method in Q1 2022 for Australian foodservice consumers with safety concerns. What else is part of Australia's new normal when it comes to foodservice behaviour? Consumers are showing interest in making health trends like plant-based meats part of their post-pandemic routines. Here are some key trends uncovered by our analysts ...

Our Australia Consumer Sentiment Study reveals the latest consumer data and expert insights. We're here to provide reliable updates on businesses in Australia and offer guidance for your long-term strategy in the new foodservice era.

Source: The NPD Group/Australia Consumer Sentiment Study, Q1 2022

If you have questions, or if we can support your business in any way, please email roxanne.uy@npd.com.

